Liam aims for new cancer cash target

BY John Morgan

Email: editorial@elyweeklynews.co.uk

BRAVE Liam Fairhurst wants to raise another £50,000 to help young cancer sufferers and their families.

Being diagnosed with cancer for a second time has not stopped 12-year-old Liam raising £100,000 for CLIC Sargent – and he wants to carry on helping others.

The Soham Village College pupil, who is responding well to chemotherapy treatment after being diagnosed with cancer for a second time, was this week celebrating his remarkable achievement with some of the classmates who gave him such strong support along the way.

Liam's father, Mark, thinks his efforts have left him exhausted but eager to repeat the fundraising feat that saw his first £50,000 provide a holiday caravan for the families of children with cancer.

Mr Fairhurst said: "He needs to have a little rest. He is finding it hard work mentally and physically.

"He wants to try to raise enough money for another caravan. Whether or not there would be another one, I'm not sure – but he wants to raise enough so it would be feasible.

"That would probably need around £55,000."

ing three hours each day at school, will look to return to Soham Village College full-time in September – all the while continuing with chemotherapy for lung cancer.

The youngster, who was named Most Courageous Child last week at the community awards organised by our sister paper the Cambridge Evening News, faces a hectic few days before that.

On Saturday, he will meet Princes William and Harry at a lunch in the Royal Suite at Wembley Stadium ahead of the Concert for Diana – Liam picked up a Diana Award for courage from Gordon Brown in February.

Then, on Monday, he will be at the countywide SkillsTrain Young People of the Year awards in Huntingdon.

Liam will also be appearing on GMTV tomorrow morning ahead of his trip to Wembley.

Getting to grips with his prize at the News awards – a go-kart Liam saw at the Soham Lodge Hotel – is an exciting distraction.

Mr Fairhurst said: "He keeps telling me he wants to see his go-kart and try it out. Once that is out of the way, he'll start looking forward to the weekend."

Murder of sisters: Mum remanded in custody

BY Joanne Tynan

Email: editorial@elyweeklynews.co.uk

A MOTHER accused of stabbing her two teenage daughters to death has appeared in court charged with their murder.

Ms Rekha Kumari-Baker, 39, spoke only to confirm her name when she appeared before Mr Justice Bean at Cambridge Crown Court last Friday.

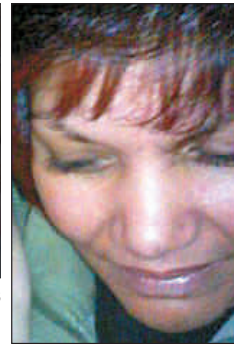

She did not enter a plea to the charge that she murdered her children Davina and Jasmine Baker, aged 16 and 13, who were found dead at her home in The Crofters, Stretham, on June 13.

Kumari-Baker was handcuffed as she was led into court wearing a pale grey tracksuit.

She kept her gaze fixed on the judge as she spoke in a quiet voice to confirm her name and appeared to listen intently as

Emma Dmitriev, from the Crown Prosecution Service, updated the judge on the position of the prosecution.

A post-mortem examination revealed that the devoted sisters died of multiple stab wounds to the chest.

Police found their bodies in separate bedrooms at their mother's house just after 8am.

Ms Kumari-Baker was arrested at the scene on suspicion of murder.

Ms Kumari-Baker separated from her husband David Baker in 2004 and he had the task of formally identifying the bodies.

The 42-year-old, of Ravensworth Gardens, Cambridge, was not in court but Ms Kumari-Baker's sister sat in the public gallery.

In an emotional tribute to his daughters, Mr Baker previously said: "I loved my girls, Davina and Jasmine. They meant everything to me and I loved them with all my heart."

"They have been taken from me and my whole family is in pain. They are irreplaceable."

Davina was finishing her GCSEs at Cambridge Regional College (CRC) and Jasmine was a pupil at Cottenham Village College.

A private memorial service was held at CRC on Monday, June 18, to allow students to pay tribute to Davina, and both girls were mentioned in assembly at Cottenham Village College.

Ms Kumari-Baker was remanded in custody and sent back to Peterborough Prison.

The judge ordered her to appear before the court again on October 12.

Story of Saxon Princess Etheldreda is revived

A PRINCESS from the distant past came back to life to remind residents how she founded their city.

A modern day Etheldreda was part of a procession through Ely to commemorate the Saxon princess and her founding of the city in 673.

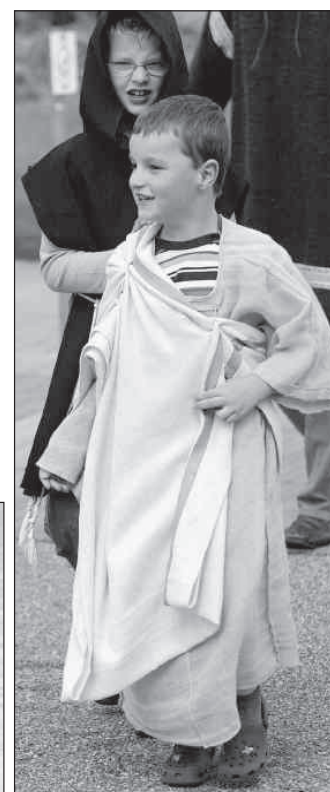

The procession, led by Canon Alan Hargrave, saw the Ely Cathedral Octagon Singers join actors and clergy in medieval dress.

The event began with a recreation of Etheldreda's arrival in Ely by boat, when she reluctantly travelled to marry Tondberct, who gifted her the whole Isle of Ely.

Etheldreda later became a nun and founded a monastery at Ely, establishing it as a place of importance and laying the foundations for the later Cathedral.

The procession finished with a blessing at Etheldreda's shrine in the Cathedral.

Court fines sacked man for damage

A SACKED maintenance man took out his anger on an ex-colleague's door.

Andrew Ratcliffe, 34, who lives in Victoria Street, Littleport, smashed glass in a patio door belonging to Hannah Helliwell and shouted abuse outside her home late at night.

Magistrates in Ely heard Ms Helliwell, who lives near Ratcliffe, worked for a company that had dismissed him.

Ratcliffe admitted a charge of criminal damage, saying he was drunk at the time of the incident and that he struggles with alcohol problems when he becomes depressed. He was ordered to pay a fine of £200, compensation of £50, costs of £60 and a victim surcharge of £15.

Derailement damage may take six months to solve

BY John Morgan

Email: editorial@elyweeklynews.co.uk

IT could be six months before a rail line and the River Great Ouse are reopened after a train derailed.

An EWS freight train crashed south-east of Ely station at Hawks Bridge on Friday, leaving several wagons dangling over the Great Ouse.

Now Network Rail says a new bridge will have to be installed, causing further disruption to One services between Peterborough and Liverpool Street and between Bury St Edmunds and Ely.

Bosses also confirmed one option being considered is to build a road that would allow cranes to be manoeuvred into position and fixed on a secure footing on the marshy ground. The spokeswoman said: "If we do go ahead with that, it will take some time to build."

One local businessman, who asked not to be named, said Network Rail had told him the best case scenario was 14-16 weeks and the worst case was 24-26 weeks before the job was completed.

While the locomotive and upright wagons have been removed, 11 derailed wagons remain.

A spokeswoman for Network Rail said: "It is likely that the bridge will need to be replaced so we have begun working up new designs. We still do not have a definite date for resumption of services.

■ IN THE BALANCE . . . wagons dangle over the River Ouse.

"Over the weekend our teams worked around the clock to assess the site and we have now removed the locomotive and all the upright wagons from the track. We are working at how best we can remove the derailed wagons safely."

The Environment Agency estimates that between 20 and 40 tonnes of granite chippings were pitched into the river by the derailed wagons.

Network Rail said it could not give an estimate on the cost of replacing the bridge or that of the clean-up at this stage. Its spokeswoman said: "Our focus is on getting it sorted."

Officials from the Rail Accident Investigation Branch are continuing to look into the cause of the derailment.

Until the river crossing is restored, passengers are facing severe delays. One services between Liverpool Street and Peterborough will start and terminate at Bury St Edmunds. A bus replacement service will be in operation between Bury St Edmunds and Ely.

Passengers for through journeys via Peterborough are advised to use Ipswich to Cambridge services and Central Trains services on to Peterborough – adding an extra hour to journey times.

Ipswich to Cambridge trains are not affected.

The dangling wagons mean the river beneath is closed to boats and the Environment Agency has put up signs warning boaters to steer clear.

There are fears the granite could also make the river impassable.

However, Network Rail and EWS have said a full clean-up will take place to recover all material from the river.

A spokeswoman for the Environment Agency said floats were in place in the river to catch oil and hydraulic fluid that leaked from the train.

Although the Ouse is still open to the north, the closure of the popular route south to Cambridge is worrying the many Ely businesses that rely on the river.

Phillip Wenn, co-owner of the Bridge Boatyard in Ely, said: "A lot of people are very concerned about trade in what should be our busiest time. It will affect our business. This is our best period of the year when all the boats should be out."

"There is a possibility that we can't get compensation from Network Rail for it, so anything we lose may have to come out of our own pockets."

For information on services, call the National Rail Enquiries Helpline on 08457 484950.

Teen in court for ASBO breach

A TEENAGER with an ASBO has appeared in court charged with breaching her order.

Faye Szulc, 18, went before magistrates in Ely charged with an offence under the Crime and Disorder Act.

A charge was put to her that she threatened to punch someone in the face if a debt was not paid and that she had breached the terms of an ASBO imposed on her in June 2006.

Ms Szulc, who lives in Clayway, Ely, was already due to stand trial on another charge of breaching the order. The case was adjourned until July 12 for a pre-trial review.

Ms Szulc was granted unconditional bail.

Man granted bail

A MAN has appeared in court charged with threatening to cause an explosion at a hostel.

Patrick Hessian, 66, of Wheatsheaf Close, Ely, was charged with making threats to residents at the Cambridge Housing Society's hostel in Wheatsheaf Close.

The case was adjourned. Mr Hessian was granted bail on condition that he does not contact residents at the hostel.

Public bid was 'not an option'

A PUBLIC bid for a wildlife haven that is now the site for a new marina was not an option, a council has said.

At a recent public meeting on development at Roswell Pits in Ely, many local residents demanded to know why East Cambridgeshire District Council did not bid for the land when it was sold by the Thomas Parsons Charity to marina owner Jeremy Tyrrell in September 2006.

Now the council has said the charity did offer it the chance to bid for the land, but maintains it could not have raised the funds needed.

The depth of feeling in Ely over Roswell Pits was clear in the numbers that attended the meeting – estimated by the organisers, Local Campaigners for the Protection of Rural Ely (LCPRE), to be 300.

habitats for rare birds and animals and wants a nature reserve to be established.

But the council says a previous unsuccessful application for Government funding for a country park at Roswell Pits showed a bid was not an option.

David Archer, the council's executive director of development, said: "In order to have bought the Roswell Pits, East Cambridgeshire District Council would have required a large amount of external funding, not only to purchase the site but to pay for the essential ongoing maintenance which would have been required."

"A bid to Government in 2005 for a country park for Ely that included Roswell Pits was unsuccessful and there were no further opportunities to acquire funding for the site before it was sold in 2006.

"The council currently does not have any plans to buy Roswell Pits."

It is thought the purchase of land for the country park, which included Roswell Pits but covered a slightly larger area, would have cost £750,000 in 2005.

At the public meeting, a number of Ely residents expressed concern at hearing the council had declined the chance to bid.

Michael Edwards earned a huge round of applause when he asked: "Why on earth weren't we told?"

Mr Tyrrell raised eyebrows at the meeting when he appeared to indicate he would "possibly" consider selling the land.

Dr Andrew Balmford, of LCPRE, said he would put £1,000 on the table to mount a public bid.

However, Mr Tyrrell is expected to submit a planning application for permanent narrowboat moorings within the next week.

Classic tales of riverbank on stage

RATTY and Mole are being reunited by some budding actors.

Year 1 and 2 pupils at King's Acremont in Ely are performing The Wind in the Willows this week.

Hannah Okechukwu plays Mole and Philippa Sears is Rat, while Paige Collier has the role of that menace to road safety, Mr Toad.

Headteacher Felicity Blake said: "This is a tale of the riverbank that grown-ups enjoy just as much as children."

"There is sorrow and sadness, fun and joy."

Teacher Christine Cooper has adapted the classic and directed the play.

Performances began yesterday at the school in Egremont Street, and continue today at 2pm.

Boom pushes up price of 'affordable homes'

CAMBRIDGESHIRE'S property boom is pushing so-called affordable homes out of reach of people desperate to get on the housing ladder.

East Cambridgeshire District Council, which ensures around a quarter of new homes in its area are "affordable", is finding many cannot meet the typical £60,000-£80,000 price for a half-share of a housing association property.

With house prices in Ely now averaging more than £200,000, the council is looking to set aside 70 per cent of affordable homes to rent, for buyers who cannot afford a half-share in housing association properties, due to the knock-on effects of a bloated Cambridge market.

Housing problems are highlighted by the 850 inquiries on the subject made to Ely and District Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) in 2006/07. Beverley Howard, manager of Ely CAB, said: "The root of most housing problems faced by our clients is the lack of suitable and affordable housing to rent.

"The private rented sector, where many landlords refuse to accept people on housing benefit and where security of tenure is very limited, does not meet the needs of many low income households looking for long-term accommodation."

Ely CAB is finding growing numbers of owner-occupiers seeking advice because of mortgage arrears as the level of debt required to buy a house in the city soars. The bureau helped clients with a combined £5.5 million in debt last year, attributing much of that to the high cost of private rents and mortgages.

In 2006/07, 219 affordable homes were built in East Cambridgeshire, out of about 800 new homes. The council estimates 240 affordable homes will be built in 2007/08, with 86 in Ely.

Jane Hollingworth, principal housing officer, believes around 70 per cent will need to be set aside for rental due to massive demand from people unable to buy.

Nick Abbey, chief executive of Hereward Housing, the Ely-based association that took on the council's stock of homes in 1993, said: "A share in an affordable home could cost £80,000 or £90,000. It is stressful for people who cannot afford a home and is bad for business. Businesses need to be able to bring in workers to live within a reasonable distance.

"Nursing homes and care homes are finding it very difficult to attract staff."

■ PADDLE POWER . . . flashback to the raft races at last year's Aquafest.

Aquafest set to make big splash

A FUN-FILLED festival will be causing a splash this weekend.

Ely's Aquafest on July 1 promises bands, dance, theatre, a fun fair – and of course, raft races.

This year will see a record 20 rafts do battle on the Great Ouse.

The event, organised by the Ely Rotary Club, will take place at Lavender's Piece and Jubilee Gardens on Ely's riverside.

There will be charity and food stalls, along with a beer tent to quench thirsts.

Jail for death crash driver

A SPEEDWAY star has been jailed for three years for killing a man as he drove home from a race meeting.

James Purchase, formerly a rider with Mildenhall Fen Tigers speedway team, was convicted of causing the death of Stephen Gill by dangerous driving following a trial at Cambridge Crown Court.

He wept as Judge Nicholas Coleman told him: "You will have to live with the consequences of what could be described as your moment of madness for the rest of your life."

The 19-year-old, of Nightingale Close, Mildenhall, was driving a Peugeot 206. It hit Mr Gill's car head-on near Littleport last August.

Purchase was driving his friend Kevin Bradfield's car home from a race meeting in King's Lynn, and the court heard he accelerated to speeds of up to 80mph as he overtook traffic.

Moments before the crash he pulled out to pass another vehicle, crossing the wrong side of the road as he approached a bend, as Mr Gill came around the corner in the opposite direction.

The impact left the 43-year-old father-of-three with multiple injuries and he died in hospital.

Mr Bradfield, who was in the passenger seat, broke his legs.

Purchase, who was not injured in the collision, wept in the dock as his lawyer William Carter spoke in mitigation.

Mr Carter said: "Not a day goes by without him recalling that night and regretting that he drove as he did in the course of that overtaking, and the consequences of his actions."

Judge Coleman also disqualified Purchase from driving for two years.

YOUNG artists are showing off their skills in a new exhibition.

Art and design students at the King's School Ely have put on a summer exhibition in the city and the works on display range from fine art prints to hand-woven embroidery.

Photography students are also exhibiting after the subject was introduced as an option for sixth formers last year.

The show includes not only coursework by students taking A-Levels, but also work by Year 9 and GCSE pupils.

This year, King's students have already gained places at art colleges such as Central St Martin's and Chelsea.

Whatever happened to respect in the headstones safety farce?

Sir, Being a relative newcomer to the area, I am anxious to learn all about the area which I now call home. Your weekly free newspaper offers some insight to what is happening in and around Ely, good or bad.

As yet, I had yet to read an article that incensed me to the point where I felt the need to make a response; however, your issue of June 14, has had the desired effect. Your front page article titled "Safety fears lead to tape on headstones" has done just that. I must congratulate you on bringing this farce to the attention of your readers, but surely it needs more than the relatives concerned to be encouraged to respond to it.

We all accept that the world is an ever changing place, new rules, regulations etcetera, but whatever happened to respect? What on earth was the council thinking of when they adopted this new policy on safety?

Everyone knows that settlement is expected once a coffin is interred and this is a gradual process over a number of years. Apart from the distress caused to living relatives with the defacing of the memorials with yellow tape, what do they intend to do with ancient headstones? Do they intend to track down distant relatives in the hope of finding survivors to pay for the upkeep? If none are found, what then, remove the offending, unsafe structures, remove the memorials? I was brought up to respect a "place of rest". My father was killed at the age of 32. My mother would never allow us to run riot in the cemetery. We were there to "visit" my father. I believe most parents today would instil this in their children.

As for the excuse that "if children go near them they could fall on them" is ludicrous. They will fall if encouraged, with force, to do so and if parents have control over their offspring, they will know if the grave they are attending is safe or not and advise accordingly. If a person is up to no good and they become injured, then that is their lookout. They will learn the hard way.

I'm afraid, as with so many of the new health and safety regulation changes, it is down to the American culture we seem to have adopted. Sue, sue, sue! Make someone else responsible for their irresponsible actions. Genuine accidents do happen, but do we really need to have someone to lay the blame on if completely innocent?

The council is supposed to represent its wards, I believe. Did we get the chance to have our say? Do we ever get our say in how our Council Tax is spent? How much did this "audit" cost us? What happened to notices displaying . . . "The council accepts no responsibility . . ." etcetera.

Wouldn't a small sign placed adjacent to the headstones have sufficed? If graffiti had been daubed over them, there would be a public outcry. What the council has done is even worse, showing a complete lack of respect, it is appalling.

There must be many of your readers that are shocked and appalled by this recent act and would welcome the opportunity to express their views. We were once a nation to be reckoned with, what happened? If you object, say so, united we can make a difference.

■ MAKING A DIFFERENCE . . . Mike Axford, Rotary Club president, hands over the cheque for £1,250 to Dr Sheila Halliday-Pegg.

Rotary boost for hospital

THE Rotary Club of Ely has given a cash boost to a charity which works in Bangladesh.

Dr Sheila Halliday-Pegg gave an excellent talk about the work of the charity IMPACT and the difference a floating hospital has made to the people living along inland waterways in parts of Bangladesh.

Quality medical care, health education, along with training for health workers and midwives, continue to change the lives of the local communities they manage to reach.

President of The Rotary Club of Ely, Mike Axford, then presented a cheque for £1,250 to Dr Sheila Halliday-Pegg.

The money had been raised by the club's annual cheese and wine event, which was held in the Long Gallery at Sue Ryder Care, because of the heavy rainfall.

MEMORY LANE

Where and when?

■ THIS week's photograph is from the Cambridgeshire Collection and shows an Ely street scene. Do you know where and when this picture was taken? Send your answers to: Memory Lane, 27 Market Place, Ely, CB7 4NP by Tuesday morning.

Fighting pain

MALCOLM Moss MP has pledged to back the fight against chronic pain. The Cambridgeshire North-East MP attended a breakfast meeting celebrating the launch of Chronic Pain Coalition's policy report, "Pain: the 5th Vital Sign". He said: "Eight million people in the UK live with chronic pain. I urge the Government to consider the Five Point Pain Manifesto as an appropriate, forward-looking and cost-effective approach to dealing with this silent epidemic."

Health bid

MENTAL health chiefs have backed a national children's charity's bid to improve children's mental health. Karen Bell, Cambridgeshire and Peterborough Mental Health Partnership Trust's chief executive, said they were working to improve the situation of the increasing numbers of youngsters with emotional problems highlighted by the charity NCH.

Diverse ways

YOUNGSTERS in the region's schools have been celebrating differences in their communities as part of a competition to mark national diversity week. Children were invited to create a picture on the theme of Our Diverse Community. A panel of judges selected five entries as winners from a collection of schools that put forward images. Winners received cash prizes of up to £150. Children at the successful schools will decide how to spend the money to benefit the community.

MP slams delay on badger cull decision

CAMBRIDGESHIRE South-East MP Jim Paice has accused the Government of unnecessary delay over its decision on whether to cull badgers to tackle TB in cattle.

After the Government delayed a final decision yet again last week, when an expert report suggested mass culling the animals was not the best way of tackling the disease, the Tory Farming spokesman launched a fierce attack.

He told Agriculture Minister Barry Gardiner during Commons Questions: "Ministers had a month in which to come up with conclusions, yet all that they have announced is further deliberation and delay.

"Moreover, it is four years since the Conservative party advocated the polymerase chain reaction test. It has taken four years – until next month – for research to begin.

"When will you make some real decisions and get a grip on this dreadful disease?"

Mr Gardiner replied: "I find it difficult to respond to that, because it was not really a question. It was a rant.

"We will consider the report carefully and will give it due importance in policy making."

Youngsters experience joy of dance

DANCE had youngsters jumping for joy.

Pupils at Highfield School in Ely were joined by members of the Lantern Dance School for a production called Be My Guest.

Around 30 boys and girls at the school aged between five and 19 took part in the production.

Police appeal for help identifying group

POLICE officers have released CCTV pictures of a group they want to trace in connection with two thefts at a supermarket.

Staff at the Co-op store in Littleport reported two incidents of shoplifting on May 11 and May 12, pictured. One of the girls is described as between 18 and 24, heavily pregnant, with long brown hair and wearing a floral top and jeans.

The second girl is described as 5ft 5in tall, with long blonde hair, wearing a white top with writing on the front, and white trainers.

The man is described as 5ft 10 in tall, with mousey medium to long wavy hair, with a dark green T-shirt and jeans.

Anyone with information should contact Pc David Bishop at Ely Police Station on 0845 4564564 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Parents win battle to save special education units

PARENTS and children are celebrating after centres that help youngsters with special educational needs were saved.

The future of the Ely and Histon Assessment Units, which help children with communication and social difficulties, including autism, at the start of their school lives, has been guaranteed by Cambridgeshire County Council after a one-month consultation.

Delighted parents were celebrating at both the Ely unit, which is part of Spring Meadow Infant School, and the Histon unit, based within Histon and Impington Infant School.

Fears the council would close the centres which provide specialist education for reception-aged children up to the end of Year 2, led campaigners to unite under the banner of Parents for Unit Resourced Education.

Jane Bridgland joined the campaign after seeing how the Ely unit helped her son Beau, who started school life there and recently gained three A* grades and five As at GCSE. She said: "We are absolutely delighted at the decision. The difference the unit makes to these children's lives is amazing.

"When my son went there, he could not talk. He was an angry boy. But within a few months, he became able to communicate – he has never looked back."

Mrs Bridgland believes the boost to pupil's life chances more than justifies the cost of the unit.

She said: "These children will probably go on to be really decent earners. They will make tenfold what it costs to keep them there."

Many of the children at the unit have an autistic spectrum disorder, while others have a range of language and educational problems.

Lisa Green, a campaigner whose son Sam is a former pupil at the Ely unit, feels that its superb record must have swayed council officers.

She said: "The unit really speaks for itself. It is unique.

"The council have made the right decision."

Mrs Green has nothing but praise for the close attention the unit devotes to pupils.

She said: "My son did not speak or make eye contact when he went there. He left reading and writing, with great maths skills."

Gordon Jeyes, the council's head of children and young people's services, said: "There will be a quality review of the services, and the provision will continue to evolve in the context of local demand and the establishment of a children's centre.

"It will be important to be able to assess the needs of very young children who may require additional learning support."

Plenty of bottle used to show recycling needs

A MAYOR showed he has plenty of bottle by testing out an unusual bridge.

A spectacular bridge made from 14,100 plastic milk bottles was unveiled in Ely on Saturday, and the city's mayor, Coun Ron Bradney, was first to cross the Great Ouse on it.

The temporary structure was the creation of Ely resident and former district councillor Jack Waterfall, who wants to highlight the need to recycle. The bridge represents the amount of plastic people in Cambridgeshire use each day by lunchtime. Crowds flocked to see the bridge put in place after watching Ely's third annual Classic Regatta.

The Guinness Book of Records declined Mr Waterfall's application for the bridge to be recognised as the longest of its type, but Coun Bradney used his mayoral powers to officially record the 36-metre span and challenged anyone on the planet to beat the Ely bottle bridge.

■ AT THE FINISH . . . Huntingdon Boat Club members win the raft race in the Ely Classic Regatta.

The contest at Netherhall School in Cambridge saw 242 children from 48 schools compete, with no other school winning more than one trophy. Headteacher and chess coach Sid Wales said: "The children thoroughly enjoy their chess and fully deserve these magnificent results." The Rackham will now send 11 youngsters who qualified to the UK finals in Manchester in July.

Cigarette smuggler was a ringleader in £3m racket

A CIGARETTE smuggler has been convicted after leading a multi-million pound racket smashed by customs officers.

David Turner, 51, was convicted after an eight-week trial at Ipswich Crown Court heard he was a ringleader in a smuggling operation that cost the Government £3 million in lost duty.

Turner, of Qua Fen Common, Soham, used forged gas bills to set up a fictitious company as a cover for importing goods into the UK.

Officers from HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) found incriminating documents at his home.

Turner and five other men will be sentenced at a later date for running the racket, which was foiled after HMRC officers raided a storage barn near Braintree in October 2005. They recovered an estimated 12 million cigarettes.

The court heard a key member of the gang, an employee at Ipswich docks, emptied containers of imported cigarettes and replaced them with a different cargo.

John Phillips, acting head of criminal investigation for the HMRC, said: "This was a sophisticated attempt to smuggle on a massive scale involving someone in a position of trust.

"Cigarette smuggling is serious, organised crime and often provides the funding for much larger criminal activities.

"For this reason alone we need to flush out the criminals involved in this activity and strip their proceeds from them.

"But, smuggling is also a crime against the honest taxpayer, as it takes away money from the public purse which could be used to help improve local communities and provide funding for vital public services."

Country skills in spotlight

CRAFTS of yesteryear went under the spotlight at the Farmland Museum and Denny Abbey in Waterbeach on Sunday.

The Friends' Country Skills event allowed visitors to travel back to the days of their grandparents for demonstrations and activities inspired by the museum collection. The day included face-painting and games for youngsters.

Bid to keep village P.O.

A POST office closure has led to an appeal for a subpostmaster.

The post office in Welney will close after the former subpostmaster resigned and anyone who wants to take over is being urged to step forward.

A spokesman for the Post Office said: "We understand that the people of Welney will be concerned about the future of Post Office services in their area.

"We are committed to maintaining a provision in Welney but our efforts have so far failed to find a replacement subpostmaster.

"I would urge any potential partners interested in running the Post Office branch to come forward as soon as possible. Post Office Ltd apologises for the inconvenience this temporary closure will cause to customers."

Anyone interested in the vacancy should contact the Post Office on 0845 6016260.

Asbo teen in court

A TEENAGER with an Asbo has appeared in court charged with breaching her order.

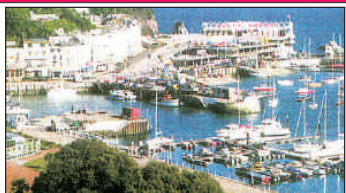

Faye Szulc, 18, went before magistrates in Ely charged with an offence under the Crime and Disorder Act.

A charge was put to her that she threatened to punch someone in the face if a debt was not paid and that she had breached the terms of an Asbo imposed on her in June 2006.

Ms Szulc, who lives in Clayway, Ely, was already due to stand trial on another charge of breaching the order. The case was adjourned until July 12 for a pre-trial review.

Ms Szulc was granted unconditional bail.

'Immigrants should not displace local workers'

IMMIGRATION Minister Liam Byrne has promised to investigate the "crazy" decision by a gangmaster to refuse a Cambridgeshire woman a job because she did not speak Polish.

He will contact county MP Malcolm Moss who raised the issue in a debate at Westminster last week.

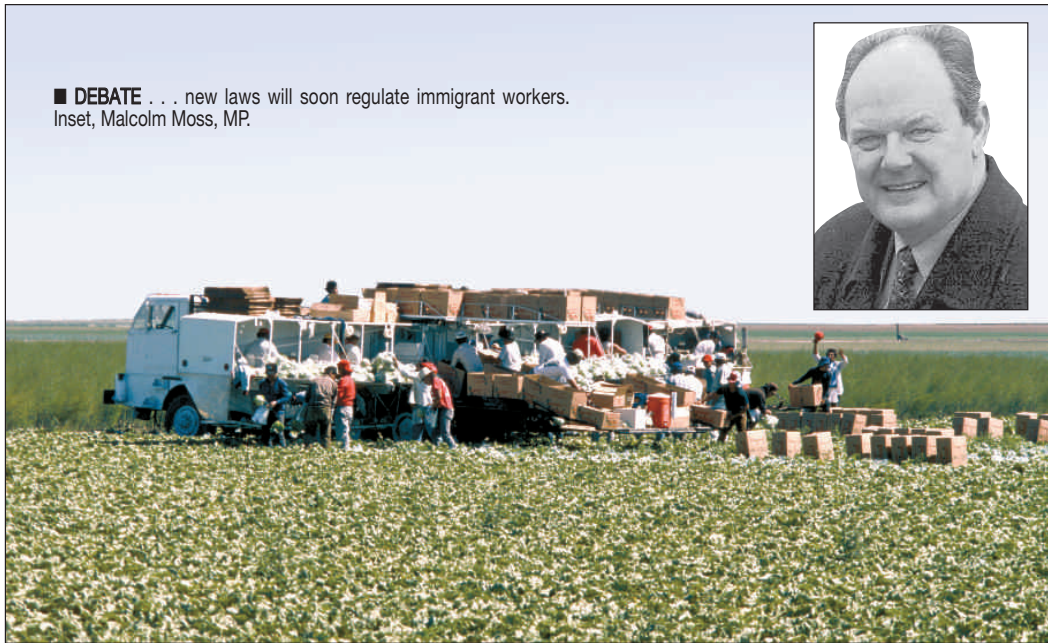

The North-East Cambridgeshire Tory told how a constituent had come to him after her daughter was turned down for work at a local food processing factory because she did not speak the same language as the rest of the staff on the production line.

The Weekly News approached Mr Byrne about the case as he launched a new advisory group to prepare the ground for a new points-based system to decide on immigration applications to the UK.

He said: "This is a crazy decision. I shall look into it. I will be in touch with Mr Moss to find out the details."

"I am concerned about this. This is immigrant workers displacing local people, and that should not happen."

"I am concerned that the reason for refusing to employ a local person might be an excuse and that the gangmaster concerned might be breaking employment law or the national minimum wage and does not wish his Polish workers to find out."

■ DEBATE . . . new laws will soon regulate immigrant workers. Inset, Malcolm Moss, MP.

Mr Moss said: "I am delighted that Mr Byrne is to look into this case, and I shall happily furnish him with the details he requires."

The new forum has been set up to prepare for the new Australian-style points system, where immigrants to the UK will have to show they have the necessary skills and qualifications, including English, to come into the country.

Mr Byrne said: "We want to make sure this new system works. This is a new group of front line practitioners to consider the social benefits of migration, identity and share good practice in managing transitional or adjustment requirements and bring together evidence about the impacts of migration and suggest areas of government research.

"Our countdown to a UK points system for migrants has started, and next year we will start counting people in and out of Britain."

Arrests in prostitution clampdown

FOUR men from Cambridgeshire have been caught in a police operation to get prostitutes off the streets.

The men, who have not been named by the police, are among 53 arrested in a campaign mounted in Ipswich following the murders of five prostitutes in December.

Suffolk police, supported by health organisations and councils, have adopted a policy to remove street prostitution from Ipswich.

Since March, kerb crawlers have been arrested and letters sent to owners of cars seen more than once in the London Road area of the town, which has been regarded as the town's "red light" district.

Most of the men arrested have been given police cautions and have signed up to an "acceptable behaviour contract". They have been warned they could face prosecution if they are caught in the area again.

Of those arrested 18 were from Ipswich, 12 from other areas of Suffolk, 10 from Essex and four from Cambridgeshire. Another nine were from outside East Anglia.

Chief Inspector Bruce Robinson said: "It is disappointing that despite media coverage of our aim to stamp out prostitution in Ipswich men still come here looking for prostitutes."

He said the campaign was intended to help women turn their backs on prostitution by giving them support, and to meet the needs of the wider community by restricting the anti-social aspects of street prostitution.

Open up interior design possibilities

ACCORDING to Hazel Pettitt, owner of Pettitt Interiors, the advantage of an independent interior designer is the huge amount of style choice it opens up to the client.

"I have the ability to source fabrics, wall papers and furniture from hundreds of different companies," says the Witchford-based designer.

"This allows greater flexibility over budgets and styles for both the designer and client."

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Hazel has been running the successful business for seven years and specialises in all aspects of interior design on a residential and commercial basis. She also manages the refurbishment and maintenance contracts for two exclusive, privately owned hotels - The Ravenwood Hall Hotel near Bury St Edmunds and the Black Lion Hotel at Long Melford.

Hazel explains: "Every project varies based on each client's individual requirements. It could be a complete refurbishment of a room or simply pulling together an existing scheme with curtains, soft furnishings, furniture and accessories."

Clients are encouraged to come up with their own ideas, whether it is their favourite colour or a particular mood they want to create. Hazel will visit you for an informal, free consultation to discuss exactly what you require before she interprets it into a scheme you are happy with.

She adds: "I sometimes find it useful to use mood boards or show examples of previous clients work to inspire imagination."

Once you are happy with the design, Hazel will prepare a comprehensive estimate including any labour costs needed to complete the project. A design fee of £150 per room is payable on the final invoice. There is no stress for the client as Hazel will project manage the scheme from start to finish.

For more information please call Hazel on (01353) 666259 or 07787 561547.

■ STYLE . . . good taste from Pettitt Interiors.

HOMES AND GARDENS

Get out more!

WITH the balmy summer nights here it's time to venture into the garage or shed to dig out your outdoor cooking kit.

But if you were a little hasty packing your barbecue bulk away last year, then you may find your gear worse for wear.

But fear not. An ever-present army of outdoor cooking contraptions is available all designed to ensure happy barbecuing and there is simply no need to get 'burnt' to obtain the best alfresco system.

So to ensure sizzling sausages and succulent steaks this summer make sure you select a system that cooks on charcoal and doesn't end up making your feast taste of the same.

■ CUTE... heavy duty trolley, £49.99 from Argos.

Charcoal King - Weber one touch gold - £175 from www.johnlewis.com

Owners of Weber BBQ's are often mistaken for folk who are well versed in the skill of outdoor cooking - and it's of little surprise. They look the part, are easy to clean, park themselves in small garage corners and cook food to an absolute tee!

Meat and Veg? - Heavy duty trolley - £49.99 www.argos.co.uk

This double grill is the perfect solution if catering for the non-meat eaters; the double grill rack separates the food on two levels, just make sure you put the meat on the bottom or your vegetarian friends may be disappointed.

Small Spaces - Grilliput and firebowl - £29.95 at www.firebox.com

For anyone who likes to travel light then the Grilliput and firebowl barbecue will see you through the camping and festival season.

This simple kit combines a sturdy yet small BBQ unit together with a charcoal holder to get the feast injected with some Fahrenheit.

Work Mate - BBQ briefcase - £14 at www.iwantoneoffthose.com

Forget dress down Fridays. It's time to take the office into another dimension on that day before the weekend. Treat your staff to a bit of outdoor action ahead of their days off.

Chill Out - Terrace fire pit - £129 at www.iwantoneoffthose.com

Anyone looking for a piece of kit that looks just as good on display as it does when in action, should stop their search. This is a fine barbecue machine and will deliver steaks superbly. After your meal, it offers itself as a medieval heat source.

Impromptu Events - Bucket BBQ - £21.99 from www.selections.com

Available in an array of shades, this is the barbecue taken to its simplest form.

It has little legs to raise it above the ground to avoid scorching the ground, decent enough depth for the charcoal, and a cooking area perfect to create a meal for two in a surprise location.

Rubbish on display in exhibition

SAVING the sea is the focus of a new exhibition. Fran Crowe, ADCC's 2007 bursary artist, is putting on a show at the Babylon Gallery that focuses on the need to preserve the coast from the debris of consumerism. Ms Crowe was dismayed by UN statistics showing there are, on average, 46,000 pieces of plastic per square mile of ocean. So she decided to collect 46,000 pieces of rubbish while walking on beaches near her Suffolk home. Walking to Save the Sea shows the results of that mission, featuring oddities such as a 32-year-old crisp packet. The exhibition is at the Babylon Gallery from June 30 to August 5.

Art at affordable prices goes on show

ART for a reasonable price is the theme of a new exhibition. The Three Cups Gallery in Ely is hosting a show of affordable work from eight British artists, including a number of sketches of the city from London-based illustrator Mark Woods. Woods' sketch of Ely Cathedral will be adorning the home of one lucky art-lover, as it is the prize in a free draw organised by exhibition curators Ovenden Contemporary. The exhibition, which runs from July 11 until August 25, will feature extracts from the sketchbook of Notting

Hill artist Anna Laurini, original surrealist paintings from Devon's Alex Sadler, watercolours from Kent's Richard Friend and collographs from Jo Booth of Monmouth. Floral paintings by popular Bedfordshire artist Jo Booth will also be on show.

There will be a preview reception at the Three Cups Gallery, off Fore Hill, on July 10 at 6.30pm. You can enter the free draw for the cathedral sketch at the reception, by visiting the gallery during the exhibition or by logging on to www.ovendenart.com

ENCHANTING TALE... Cambridge Touring Theatre return this summer with Wind in the Willows.

CP

Kool time at regular gig night

BLUES is the theme for the next instalment in a regular gig night. Ely Beets presents King Kool, Mandolin Manson and Nathan Jones on Saturday, July 7. Nathan Jones pays homage to the genius of Robert Johnson, Mandolin Manson leads audiences through howling bluegrass and King Kool stomps out swamp blues. The gig is at the Lamb Hotel's Stables Bar in Ely and starts at 7.30pm. Entry costs £3.

Riverside animals come out to play

CAMBRIDGE Touring Theatre will be taking Kenneth Grahame's classic tale of riverside life, Wind in the Willows, around the region this summer.

By Nik Shelton

Rosie Humphreys after she had taken a career break to raise her children. She said: "When I had my family I wanted to use my background in arts administration - I worked for the orchestral department of the English National Opera - and continue to work in the theatre. "What better way to continue than to set up a joint company with my partner Simon, who is a musician, and Barry Evans from Ely, who is an actor and teacher, and to start up performances that appeal to the whole family. We are very proud of what we have achieved and are going from strength to strength." The show - featuring all the much-loved characters, including Ratty, Moley, Badger and Toad of Toad Hall - will be at Girton College in Cambridge on Saturday at 6pm. Next month it will be at Wimpole Hall on Friday, July 6, at 6pm, and at the Bishop's Palace Garden in Ely on Friday, July 13, at 6pm. For ticket prices and booking information, got to www.cambridgetouringtheatre.co.uk

Porsche's ultimate challenge

HOW about something of a motoring challenge?

You are going to do between ten and 20 fast laps of the Brands Hatch circuit, a number of very fast and largely sideways miles of a rally circuit, compete on a wet tarmac surface in a handling competition and finally slog through mud and rivers up to half a metre deep.

So wheel on the latest version of the Porsche Cayenne, which believe it or not is able to give a very good account of itself in all these roles. A new dynamic chassis control system, which is only available as an extra on what is already a rather expensive car, is the secret behind the Cayenne's outstanding performance on the track.

No matter how hard you push the car into a corner there is not the slightest hint of body roll. Two anti-roll bars with built in swivel motors replace traditional anti-roll bars.

Head for the rally course and the intelligent traction management system divides the available power between all four wheels whilst a flick of a switch between the front seats can raise and lower the air suspension for either track work or river crossing.

Cayenne strikes awesome pose

Of course you need some power, so the V6 of the standard car has gone up from 3.2 to 3.6-litres providing an additional 40bhp while the 4.8-litre V8 unit of the Cayenne S has 45bhp more than before.

Finally the V8 of the Cayenne Turbo now has exactly 50bhp more raising its output to exactly 500bhp – a lot of power by any standards!

If you are one of those fortunate people who can afford anything between £37,100 and £74,650 for their Cayenne, then you might worry about someone trying to make off with it. Porsche has introduced its own satellite tracking system available in 27 different countries. The car constantly lets the system know where it is and the system is approved to Thatcham grade 5 standard, the highest in the UK.

Of course you get the full works when it comes to comfort and pleasure. Fourteen speakers operate with the BOSE sound system and there is a rear seat entertainment system which uses infra-red headsets to avoid problems with trailing wires.

Even the windows have glass treated to bounce raindrops off the surface almost before they land.

The air suspension system comes as an extra and it will be interesting to see how many buyers take it up. I would guess many customers will go for it simply because it is there.

BASICALLY . . .

There can be few cars as totally versatile as the new Cayenne. It can offer outstanding performance in a range of roles providing you are prepared to pay the price. High levels of luxury and comfort are combined with practical carrying ability.

Are you up for the Two Counties Show?

THIS year the Two Counties Motor Show, which takes place on Sunday, has undergone a quantum leap and now deservedly takes its place as the most successful car show the region has ever seen.

The event is all the more remarkable because it is hosted for charitable reasons, with the funds raised steered towards Magpas, the East Anglian Air Ambulance and the Milton Children's Hospice.

Now in its eighth year, the event has traditionally taken place at the Rowley Mile Racecourse in Newmarket – a venue which has been well chosen since it can accommodate the expanded showcase of all that's good about motoring in the region. More than 200 new cars will be on show on the day – Marshall's alone is taking 100 vehicles – along with at least 100 classic and vintage sets of wheels.

In addition to the cars there will be events and experiences for everyone to enjoy, including fairground rides, driver and motorcycle training, radio-controlled car racing, rally cars (and rally champ James Wozencroft on the Browning Suzuki stand) and – a first – an auction run by Antique Finds.

The event is a tribute to the good, and largely unsung, work of Cambridge, Ely and Newmarket Lions Clubs. The Lions Club network is "the biggest service organisation in the world", according to Ely Lions Club's Ian Newstead, who works on the Show's main committee.

This year The Davis Group has agreed to contribute £1 for every person coming through the gate, which will deliver a huge boost to local charities.

"The Motor Show is the biggest event we do, and the response has been phenomenal," Ian says.

■ Further details are available at www.twocounties-motorshow.org.uk

■ THUMBS UP . . . Ian Newstead, of Ely Lions Club, is one of the main organisers of this Sunday's Two Counties Motor Show.

■ JUST CHAMPION... Ely BBQ tennis champion Gareth Gibbs (centre front) with other tournament players. CP

GARETH Gibbs won Ely Tennis Club's BBQ tournament, beating Peter Stephens 11-8 in a champions' tie-break. Gibbs and Stephens both won 26 out of a possible 36 games in the round-robin tournament where entrants played doubles with several partners but kept their individual scores. To decide the tournament winner, the top scoring ladies Honor Porter (17 games) and Jane Chalk (14 games) partnered Gibbs and Stephens in a tie-break.

In third place was Trevor Gordon-Potts (23 games) and in fourth was Kenn White (23 games). Meanwhile, in the LTA Mens' Division 4, Ely 1 beat Cambridge 5, to top the table and be guaranteed promotion next year. Captain Jason Morley and his team of Peter Stephens, Geoff Powell and Jason Teckoe overcame Cambridge 5-3 to record a solid away win for the last match of the season. The team, which has also included Chris Grayland, was unbeaten all season with six wins and one draw. Players interested in joining Ely Tennis Club are invited to turn up at club sessions on Tuesdays 7-9pm and Sundays 10am-noon. SPEEDWAY

Sharman has Tigers plans

CAMBRIDGE-based entrepreneur Roger Sharman has revealed his reasons for purchasing a major stake in Mildenhall Speedway.

The retired 67-year-old from Chesterton last week bought out co-promoter Mick Horton's 36 per cent shareholding in the Fen Tigers, with his 26-year-old daughter Loretta, and the pair have set out their ideas on how to take the club on to the next level.

Mr Sharman said: "I have followed speedway since 1948 and when I moved to Cambridgeshire I followed King's Lynn.

"I got to know Mick from Peterborough and he hinted he was looking at selling his stake, so we began negotiations.

"The club has a great atmosphere, everyone is friendly and works tirelessly to make things happen.

"We have spoken with Simon Barton (co-promoter) about our thoughts on moving the club forwards and we feel that improving on the advertising is a crucial factor.

"We'd also like to see riders invited from local clubs for an end-of-season meeting to attract a big crowd."

"We have only been coming to Mildenhall for four seasons. We are keen supporters and sponsors of Shaun Tacey, he is Mr Mildenhall as far as we are concerned.

"He's always helping out the other riders, even when he's having a bad meeting, and is an inspiration."

■ Canadian star Kyle Legault finished above some top names in a Grand Prix qualifier in Italy with 11 points and has progressed to the semi-finals.

The 22-year-old has made a big impact at the Fen Tigers this season and is another who is backed by the Sharmans.

"Kyle is a fantastic rider, but struggles with his machinery. We like to give him as much support as possible" said Loretta Sharman.

■ Newport versus Mildenhall was postponed on Sunday due to heavy rain.

It has been rescheduled for July 8. The Fen Tigers were due in action in a local derby contest at King's Lynn last night

Soham in search for support

SOHAM Town Colts are holding their signing-on evening for the 2007/08 season on July 19 at Soham Town Rangers, Julius Martin Lane, Soham, between 6.30pm and 8.30pm. This will be followed by the Annual General Meeting. There are a lot of exciting plans for the club and they are looking for more involvement from parents and club supporters, so all are welcome. They would also like to talk to anyone interested in coaching and managing the under-nines team next season. Call Heather Smart on 01353 624325 or visit www.sohamtowncolts.co.uk for more details.

CYCLING

ELY & District Cycling club's 10 mile handicap cup was snapped up by Martin Brown. Based on the average times for the season, the trophy was scooped by a resurgent Brown who took the opportunity to seize some silver for the first time this year with a handicap time of 22:20 (25:00). Andy Stephen, who has shown dedication and spirit in his return to the sport, narrowly missed top spot by 30 seconds while Simon Weatherley and Andrew Wills took joint third with 22:58 (27:28 and 25:50). Scratch times for the evening produced more evolution on the leaderboard as Jason Nixon assumed a leading role in the absence of Steve Presland, chasing down Geoff 'The Booster' Brewster for a scorching 24:03, just short of Brewsters' 24:00 while Tom Syles, Phillip Peacock and Colin Whitechurch closed in on the top spot target with 24:19, 24:35 and 24:44 respectively. Rough conditions continued overhead as new rider Tim Downs was cooking up a storm of his own on the wet course from Witchford to Sutton. The first time tester really made a mark with 26:56 and became one of the growing number of keen cyclists trying out with the club to see just what they can achieve on a bike. Sturdy performances came from Nigel Sawtell and

Ben Stephen (30:47 and 31:48) who left the way clear for returning tri-athlete Carly Wilson to take the honour of 'Lantern Rouge' with 33:23 on the line. The next event for the club will be on July 4 for the 25 mile Vets On Standard trophy on the Witchford-Chatteris course. Riders should meet around 15 minutes before the official start time of 7:30pm at the Witchford Pavillion, Bedwell Hey Lane, Witchford. If you fancy a go, come along and give it a try. There is a 10 mile option if you prefer. For more information take a look at

Taylor sets his sights on Ely duo

JOHN Taylor has raided Ely City as he rebuilds his Newmarket squad for the upcoming Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign. The Jockeys' boss, who replaced Dave Abbs as manager in February, has lost the services of Dave Werthmann and Andy Pettit to neighbours Mildenhall. But the former Cambridge United manager has landed keeper Arron Bestead, from Haverhill Rovers, and has targeted Ely City pair Nick Impey and Jamie Thurlbourne. The duo are set to start pre-season at the Town Ground.

Taylor said: "I am happy with the way things are progressing and we are looking at a few other players from further afield, who will be relocating to the area soon."

Ely assistant boss Alan Alsopp said: "Nick and Jamie are going to have a look at Newmarket. They've not signed anything yet, but I think it's likely they will."

Meanwhile, Soham Rangers will spend the whole of pre-season on the road while the pitch at Julius Martin Lane gets some much needed attention ahead of the start of their Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign. Ian Benjamin's side kick off the first of seven friendly fixtures with a trip to Deeping Rangers on Tuesday, July 17 before making their way to neighbours Littleport, of the Kershaw League, on the Thursday.

Soham will then go to Eagle Bitter United Counties League, Premier Division outfit St Neots on Tuesday, July 24 ahead of a visit to Thrapston two days later. Next up for Rangers are Sleaford on Saturday, July 28 before they go to local rivals Ely City for the annual Doug Unwin Memorial Trophy on Tuesday, July 31 at the Unwin Ground. Benjamin's team then finish off their pre-season duties with a match at Cogenhoe United on August 4.

Storey boys are weather beaten

ELY and Haddenham second team were once again left rueing another non-result as weather affected their relegation showdown with Coton.

Having won the toss, skipper Benjamin Storey chose to bowl, taking advantage of the new ball on a bowler friendly wicket.

Club legend Mark Deas opened the bowling along with Storey and this partnership did not take long to reap a reward. In the fourth over, Storey made the break-through, catching opener Bullard for a duck off his own bowling.

Coton quickly slumped to 17 for 5 off 14 overs with Deas picking up one and Storey the other four wickets.

Coton's Speller and Breward offered brief resistance and restructured their innings with a partnership of 29 taking them to 46, but once Speller (20) holed out to Kevin Willers off the bowling of Sam Cornwell, the Coton tail decided to attack.

Most of the tail picked up runs for Coton with Breward (17), Kaye (13), Spanron (18) and Bradbury (11) all getting into double figures in 112 all out.

Storey picked up five wickets for 25 and Deas a tidy 2 for 7.

Ely started their response after tea and were on 18 for 4 off 11.5 overs, before the rain re-appeared, flooded the pitch and forced the game to be abandoned.

This week, Ely II's are at home to Burwell III's in a bottom of the table clash.

■ Ely and Haddenham's first team clash with Over was a victim of the weather.

ROEDER SIGNS FOR CRUSADERS

ELY Crusaders u-11 youngsters Charlie Root, centre, and Mitchell Morse know a famous face when they see one. The pair got former Newcastle boss Glenn Roeder to sign on the dotted line during Saturday's race meeting at Newmarket.

Proud Sayers leads GB home

GREAT BRITAIN women's new team captain Goldie Sayers was cock-a-hoop as she led her side back into Europe's Super League on Sunday

Britain's women were relegated in Malaga last year, but a delighted Sayers, proudly leading from the front, saw her side promoted in their European Cup First League 'A' match in Vaasa, Finland.

The British javelin record holder led by example on Saturday when she produced another world-class display.

Sayers, who is a former student at King's School, Ely, dominated her competition, despite being troubled by an adductor problem.

She insisted: "It will be okay," after again beating last summer's European silver medallist Barbora Spotakova for the second time in three weeks.

"It was a good win to have. I think she is carrying an injury – but so am I," said the former European junior silver medallist.

She added: "I felt some added pressure being the captain, but I was determined to lead by example and to get the win was perfect.

"I knew I had Spotakova to beat, but I just got on with my own throws and I am pleased to throw over 60m."

Sayers has enjoyed a blistering start to the season, including setting the new British mark of 65.05m.

However, she will take enormous satisfaction from her win over Spotakova, of the Czech Republic, who threw only 58.45.

Sayers threw 60.41 in a solid series, which also included throws of 58.84 and 59.55, both better than Spotakova's best.

OPEN GOLF

George eyeing a repeat

ANDREW George will be aiming to repeat the feat of four years ago when he sets off with the target of reaching this year's Open Championship at Carnoustie. The Ely City player was the last man from the region to make it through the qualifying rounds to take part in The Open, in 2003, at Sandwich. Four years ago, George, above, made it through Regional Qualifying at Nottingham and Local Final Qualifying at North Foreland, but the journey starts much closer to home for this year, with the Regional Qualifying at Gog Magog Golf Club in Cambridge.

He will tee off next Wednesday, July 4, in the 34th group at 1.18pm, alongside Thomey's Kerr Page and Wanstead's David Hawkins. George will not be the only Ely player in the field on the day, he will be joined by his assistant professional at the club, Jamie LeBrun. The former Cambridgeshire Area Golf Union Boys' Champion will be in the 15th group on the course, at 9.39am, alongside Salisbury & South Wilts' Richard Pullen and Five Lakes' Graham Guthrie.

BOWLS

Harlow keeps on winning

GREG Harlow was literally doing cartwheels after winning the inaugural Co-Operative Funeralscare World Matchplay Indoor Bowls Championships in Sheffield.

City of Ely's former world No 1 showed off his gymnastic prowess as he went for the trophy and the winner's cheque for £10,000 after beating Mervyn King in the final.

Harlow, 38, said: "It's something that grew out of my recent trip to Australia, where I told everybody I'd do a cartwheel if I won another World Bowls Tour tournament. I'm sure I wouldn't have scored 10 out of 10 for it, though."

Victory stretched Harlow's winning streak at Ponds Forge to 18 matches – he has also won three successive International Open titles there. But he needed to go to a tie-break to see off former world champion King 10-8, 4-10, 2-0 to secure victory. Harlow, who beat Wales' Robert Weale 6-5, 5-5 in the semi-finals, led all the way in the opening set and went 4-0 up in the second, only for King to storm back.

Harlow responded by taking the first end in the deciding set before overturning a two-shot lead to take the second end by a single point to clinch the crown. "It's unbelievable, I don't know what it is, I just wish we could play all our WBT events here," he said. "Mervyn played a fantastic game but all the way through I felt I could win. "I really feel at home in Sheffield – perhaps I should buy a house here and become a naturalised Yorkshireman." Harlow also admitted that he was looking forward to what has become a ritual way of celebrating his WBT successes in Sheffield – with fish and chips and champagne! "It may be early in the morning before we get home to Ely – but we'll still do it. I won't change a thing
